How to Quarantine

What does quarantine mean?
Quarantine means keeping someone who might have been exposed to COVID-19 away from others.

What if I feel fine?
You can spread COVID-19 to others even if you don’t have any symptoms.

When should I quarantine?
Even if you don’t feel sick you should quarantine if you:
- Were near someone with COVID-19.
- Traveled to Oregon from out-of-state for non-essential reasons.
- Returned to Oregon from non-essential travel out-of-state.

What is essential travel?
- Essential travel includes: work and study, critical infrastructure support, economic services and supply chains, health, immediate medical care, and safety and security.
- Non-essential travel includes travel that is considered tourism or recreational in nature.

How do I quarantine?
If you have been near someone with COVID-19:
- Stay home and at least six feet away from everyone, including the people you live with, for 14 days.

If you are quarantining because of non-essential travel:
- Stay home for 14 days. You do not need to stay six feet away from the people you live with.

A 14-day quarantine is the safest option to prevent the spread of COVID-19 to others.

If you have not had any symptoms, you may consider ending quarantine early:
- After 10 days, without any testing, or
- After seven days, if you have had a negative result from an antigen or polymerase chain reaction (PCR) test that was administered less than 48 hours before you end quarantine.

If you choose to shorten your quarantine period, there is a small chance you may transmit the infection to others post-quarantine, so it is critical that you continue to monitor yourself for symptoms daily.

If symptoms develop, you should return to quarantine, notify your local public health authority and call your health care provider to discuss testing.

Shortened quarantine is not an option for residents or patients in long-term care facilities and other congregate care settings. Please visit the Oregon Health Authority’s COVID-19 website for more information.

Some people may find it easy to quarantine. However, it may be harder for others. It can be especially hard for those who can’t work from home, live alone, have disabilities or take care of other people in their home.
